

Earliest Snowfall Here Is 2 Inches

Called Red Spy

Wind Damages TV Antennas; Tide Covers Island, Halts Ferry

The City of Kingston and Ulster county felt the sting of winter last night as the first northeaster of the season swept up the Middle Atlantic coast spreading a band of snow from South Carolina to southern New England.

Approximately two inches of snow fell in the city during the night—the earliest snowfall on record here, according to the city engineer's office.

Only minor damage was reported in this area with roads slushy but passable. A tree was reported down on Academy Green and another was removed from Route 209 near Wawarsing by the Ulster County Highway Department.

TV Antennas Damaged
City police and Board of Public Works crews reported a number of television antennas had been damaged by the lash of windy winds.

Highland State Police reported that traffic had been tied up for about three hours last night on Route 9W between the Mid-Hudson Bridge and the traffic circle at Highland and a two-hour snarl on the same highway near the weighing station located between Highland and West Park.

City and county crews worked through the night, it was reported. The Board of Public Works sanded streets but did not call out its snow plows. It had crews out this morning clearing sidewalks.

The Ulster County Highway Department had approximately 30 plows working during the night, a spokesman said, pointing out that they had begun sanding at an early hour, plowing later as the snow deepened.

Water Covers Island Dock
Winds in the northeaster ranging up to 70 MPH in the New York city area piled up heavy tides along the coast with heavy tides anticipated. Waters in Rondout creek shortly after low tide this morning were washing over the tip of Island Dock.

Chief Boatswain Herman Lange of the Rondout Creek Lighthouse Station said that waters in the Hudson, which usually drop four feet from high to low tide, had fallen one foot by low tide at 7:42 a. m. today. High tide comes at 2:42 p. m.

Lange said the water in the river was "kicking up pretty bad" with waves "at least four feet high."

Ferry Stops Trips
A spokesman for the New York State Bridge Authority reported that the Rhinebeck ferry was not able to operate because of high water which was running over the dock.

T. Sweeney of the city engineer's office reported that yesterday's snowfall was the earliest recorded in 19 years of local weather history. Last year, he said, a "trifle" of snow fell on November 9. Except for that the earliest snowfall occurred on November 15, 1943.

Snow Starts At 7 P. M.
A light, fine snow began falling about 7 p. m. and continued through the night, turning to a mixture of snow and rain this morning.

Low yesterday was 25 degrees and high 34. This was the lowest recorded for this date since the mercury fell to 24.

A spokesman for the New York Telephone Company reported there had been "nothing unusual during the night," with no reports of lines down or storm damage.

An Associated Press story from New York reported today that flood tides were adding havoc to the pre-winter storm which had taken at least five lives and stirred fear for the safety of more than 20 others.

Blonde Denies Slaying Her Husband and Meeting Negro

Fairbanks, Alaska, Nov. 7 (AP)—Diane Wells, charged with the slaying that made her a widow, insists she is innocent of that or any improper relations with the Negro drummer who has been named with her in a first degree murder indictment.

Mrs. Wells, slim and pretty 31-year-old blonde, returned here early yesterday and immediately went into seclusion. A few hours later she issued a signed statement through her attorney, saying she had returned "to clear my name and my son's name."

With her on the return trip from Seattle, where she was arrested Tuesday after flying there from Anchorage, was the 4-year-old son by her marriage with Cecil Wells, wealthy Fairbanks businessman who was slain in his

Esopus Lilacs Bloom in Snow

With the season's first snowfall pelted the area, it may be a real harbinger of what is still to come but to Miss Mary Loughran of West Esopus, there's still a breath of the warm climes in the air.

Miss Loughran of West Esopus notified The Freeman editorial room this morning that she has a blooming lilac bush in her yard and is still picking a few bouquets.

"It's the first time we've ever had lilacs at this time of the year," the West Esopus resident said today while outside the wintry blasts continued.

She said she picked the first bouquet of the late lilacs last Wednesday.

Ford Will Direct 1954 Palsy Drive

Ulster County Chapter Gets Announcement for May Campaign

WILLIAM C. FORD

William Clay Ford, of Detroit, vice-president of the Ford Motor Company, has accepted the post of volunteer national chairman of the 1954 campaign of United Cerebral Palsy, Dr. Henry L. Bibby, county chapter director, announced today. Ford will head the annual May drive to raise funds for the support of essential services to the Cerebral Palsied in communities all over the country, including Ulster county.

Word of Ford's acceptance was received from Leonard H. Goldenson, of New York, national president of UCP and president of American Broadcasting Paramount Theatres, Inc. In his message to Dr. Bibby, Goldenson said "Mr. Ford will be leading tens of thousands of volunteers in communities such as yours, dedicated to provide as many as possible of the 550,000 palsied with the treatment, education, vocational programs, and other services they so desperately need, and, through research, to hasten the day of the eventual control of cerebral palsy."

Ford Director Since '48
Ford has been a director of the Ford Motor Company since 1948. As general manager of the Special Products Division, he is engaged in special product studies and supervises the development of new products. Active in numerous other health and welfare organizations, Ford has also headed the Major Industry Unit of the Michigan United Foundation. He is secretary-treasurer of Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, and president of the Edsel B. Ford Institute for Medical Research, as well as a trustee for the Michigan Heart Association.

In accepting the chairmanship, Ford said: "It is a privilege to join with so many other Americans in encouraging and supporting the work of United Cerebral Palsy. I have seen at first hand what can be done to help cerebral palsied children and adults overcome disabilities and go on to make the most of their abilities."

Italy Boils Over Riots In Trieste

British Embassy in Rome Is Stormed by Mobs; Police Battle Crowds in Other Cities

Rome, Nov. 7 (AP)—Violent anti-British riots erupted in Rome and other Italian cities again today in protest against bloody street fighting in the disputed port city of Trieste.

Although Trieste itself remained quiet as U. S. and British troops patrolled the downtown area with fixed bayonets, shouting, stone-throwing Italians battled police in cities up and down the Italian boot.

In Rome, a mob estimated at 12,000 stormed a ring of club-wielding riot police around the British Embassy until a barrage of tear gas sent the demonstrators in flight. At least 50 policemen and 100 rioters were injured. There was a similar demonstration yesterday at the American Embassy.

Fight at Consulate
Another fierce fight broke out in front of the British Consulate in Bari, southeastern port city. Fifteen police and 20 students were injured before the demonstrators were quelled.

Police also broke up outbreaks in Milan, Genoa, Naples and Messina, Sicily. Except for one person in Naples, no casualties were reported from these cities, however.

In London, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the Italian ambassador swapped protests.

In Trieste itself, the situation was quiet but still grim and tense as the embattled city prepared to bury its dead, killed in savage rioting with British-trained police.

American troops marched their posts along the waterfront Piazza Dell'Unita (Union Square) where the bloodiest fighting resulted in four dead yesterday. At least six have been killed in wild outbreaks the past three days.

Some Near Death
Several of the 40 seriously wounded now in hospitals seemed doomed to die. Among them was a boy of 15. Many others were treated for minor wounds and released.

The riot in Rome—the second in two days—was a savage give-and-take fight, with police jeeps salving forth into the crowd again and again to be met with flying stones, paving blocks and firecrackers. Fire trucks dashed up spraying colored water on the rioters.

At one point the mob threw up barricades of paving blocks and traffic signs to halt traffic in the area around the embassy.

The rioters—most of them young students—succeeded in throwing back some of the first tear gas bombs hurled at them but the later barrage drove them back to the Piazza of St. John Lateran, about a quarter of a mile from the embassy.

Referee Will Take Data On Paltz Assessments

By consent of counsel a referee will be named to take testimony in five actions to review assessments in the town of New Paltz. Justice Donald S. Taylor, holding a special term of Supreme Court Friday, granted an application of Peter Harp to name a referee and the application was consented to by Ralph Gabrielli, counsel for the five petitioners.

The actions to review the assessments, which it is claimed are excessive or disproportionate, are brought by Ralph and Helen Gabrielli, Joseph and Anna Ciatto, Abraham Ellen, Kaderbeck Hurst and James E. and Florence C. Rappa, petitioners, against the board of assessors of the town of New Paltz. In the Hurst case the action was brought against the town of New Paltz and Arthur Kessler on a motion to modify examination before trial of plaintiff. In that action Roy Featherstone and Peter Harp appeared for defendants. All cases involve assessments laid by the board of assessors.

The matter of excessive assessments in the town of New Paltz has been heard on numerous occasions by the courts, and the plaintiffs allege the assessments are not only excessive but are not equitable and that in some instances certain property owners have been favored with low assessments while others are assessed in disproportionate order. Gabrielli argues that certain property owners, including banks, are favored in low assessments and that these low assessments reflect adversely on other property owners and especially those whose property is assessed high. In the Abraham Ellen case it is sought to set aside the entire tax roll on the grounds it is not equitable. It is contended property is not assessed at true value and that in certain instances favor has been shown

Thruway 6 Million Over Bond Issue

Albany, Nov. 7 (AP)—The State Thruway Authority already has gone 6 million dollars over the 500-million bond issue authorized to finance the superhighway — and undoubtedly will go deeper in the red. The authority said yesterday about 506 million dollars had been spent or earmarked for the 427-mile cross-state expressway. Seventeen miles remain to be contracted for, and the costs for construction of restaurants and gas stations, rights of way and other items must be added the authority said.

Swiss Ready To Quit Over PW Heckling

Panmunjom, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Swiss today threatened to quit the Korean Repatriation Commission unless the Communists are barred from harassing anti-Red Chinese and Korean prisoners during prolonged interviews.

The threat came less than 24 hours after the Indian chairman of the commission, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, indirectly warned the Reds to change their tactics or face suspension of the interviews Monday.

Armin Daeniker, Swiss member of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, declared that unless two important rule changes are adopted the Swiss would "be forced" to reconsider their mandate to sit on the commission.

He demanded that:

1. Indian chairmen of NNRC subcommittees which observe the interviews be empowered to halt any session if Communist persuaders violate the prisoner's rights under the Geneva Convention.
2. The Communists interview in one day all prisoners they call to the explanation area.

May Win Support
Observers here said it appeared probable the Swiss would be able to win approval of the rule changes Monday, with support from the Swedes and Indians.

However, there was speculation that this would lead to a walkout by pro-Communist Czech and Polish commission members.

There have been increasing indications during recent days that the Reds might welcome this development as an opportunity to escape from the stinging propaganda defeat they have been getting in the explanation tents.

Only about 3 per cent of the prisoners interviewed so far have elected to return to their Communist homelands. Only 61 of 2,020 said they would go back.

Stenstrom Pessimistic

The next interviews are scheduled for Monday.

Maj. Gen. Jan Stenstrom, who represents Sweden on the commission, said he was pessimistic about the future of the explanations.

Stenstrom said, however, he personally has not seen force (Continued on Page 11, Col. 7)

All of Employees Take Loyalty Oath

East Haven Workers Are Praised as Legion Head Conducts Ceremony

East Haven, Conn., Nov. 7 (AP)—All municipal employees of this town, with the exception of the public school teachers, took a loyalty oath voluntarily in a four-minute ceremony here last night.

Five members of the school board which has been under fire for requiring the teachers to take the loyalty oath or lose their jobs joined the group of 117 persons who swore loyalty to the Constitution of the United States and the state of Connecticut. School custodians who are hired by the school board were in the group with the fire and police departments and their auxiliaries.

The oath was administered by George F. Mulligan, district commander of the American Legion, First Selectman Frank S. Clancy who arranged the affair at a meeting of the heads of town departments Wednesday night, told the employees their action in volunteering to take the loyalty oath deserves "the approbation of all our neighbors and fellow townspersons."

Started by School Board
The meeting was the outgrowth of a controversy which originated after the school board voted 5 to 1 on Oct. 23 to require a loyalty oath from all teachers before they sign new contracts next April. The action drew immediate criticism from the State CIO Council, teachers organizations and State Commissioner of Education Finis Engleman.

No teacher was in the group taking the oath last night. However, immediately after the mass meeting four representatives of the East Haven teachers met in a closed session with the school board. Following the meeting David Reed of New Haven, past president of the Connecticut Federation of Teachers (AFL), said the group had not taken a stand on the loyalty oath but had asked the board to cooperate with the teachers in preventing unfavorable publicity in the future.

Cites 'Tremendous Promise'
Currie told the group present Friday afternoon that the dome area around Panther Mountain is a "completely unproven region," but that the firm feels it "has tremendous promise."

Currie said they expected the first well would have to go down at least 5,500 feet into the Oriskany sand. They will use a cable tool, rather than a rotary rig such as used in Texas, and the rig will be "not much different than the largest water rig."

The speed with which the venture will progress will depend on the weather and other conditions. "If everything is ideal, we should see the well completed in three months," Currie said.

Leases on 9,000 Acres
The Corporation has obtained customary oil and gas leases on about 9,000 acres in the town of Shandaken. About 10 or 15 years ago, Currie explained, local interests formed the Panther Mountain Corporation and began negotiating the leases with land (Continued on Page 5, Col. 7)

Ban Lifted on Indian Liquor But Tribes to Remain Dry

Albuquerque, Nov. 7 (AP)—Now that New Mexico's Indians can have a sociable drink at home, they don't want it.

Although it's been almost two months since the state lifted its ban against sale of liquor to the tribesmen, the 19 Pueblos, two Apache Reservations and three Navajo communities still haven't okayed use of liquor on tribal land.

And officials say they don't expect tribesmen to do so. Federal bans were lifted months ago, permitting states to decide if liquors could be sold to Indians within their boundaries. New Mexico lifted its restrictions Sept. 15 in a state constitutional election, so Indians in this state now can buy liquor at a bar. But tribal officials apparently

5 Groups Fight Blaze Early Today

Dorothea Bates, Niece Are Victims; Husband Hears About House in Flames on Way Home

A woman died with her 10-month-old niece in a fire which destroyed her home on Hallahan Hill near Sawkill early today.

The bodies of Mrs. Dorothea Westcott Bates, 24, and the baby, Lynn Westcott, were recovered burned beyond recognition from the ruins of the two-story white-framed building about 5:45 a. m. today.

Mrs. Bates' husband, Robert Warren Bates, 31, was not at home when the fire first broke out.

Volunteer firemen from four fire companies responded to the alarm and Mutual Aid calls but the house was already completely involved in flames when the first firemen arrived, they reported.

Mother Dead 6 Weeks
Lynn Westcott was the daughter of Allen Westcott, whose address was given as the Flushing YMCA. Her mother died about six weeks ago of leukemia, state police learned. The baby's uncle and aunt had been taking care of her since that time.

Two police dogs and a cat also died in the flames. The bodies of Mrs. Bates and the baby were found by firemen in the living room section of the house toward the front, firemen said. The animals were in the rear part of the building.

No Prints in Snow
The fact that there were no foot prints in the snow around the building indicated to firemen that no one had entered or left the building after the fire had broken out. Chief William Norton of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, reported.

Ulster Hose, Sawkill and the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Companies had pumbers and tank trucks at the scene and the Hurley Fire Company dispatched its tank truck in response to a mutual aid call.

Coroner Francis J. McCordie was summoned when the baby's body was found about 5:45 a. m. Mrs. Bates' body was found about 15 minutes later, he said. Both bodies were taken to the McCordie Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, pending funeral arrangements.

Alan Westcott was notified of his daughter's death and was on his way to Kingston this morning. Cause of the fire has not been determined, according to fire company officials and state police.

Bates told Coroner McCordie that the fire might have been caused by an oil-burning parlor circulator which he thought might have exploded due to the high winds last night.

Reported by Spotter
The first report of the fire came at 2:20 a. m. from Col. Carl J. Terry of Wall street who was on duty at the Aircraft Spotter's Post atop the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. He telephoned mutual aid headquarters and reported the fire which he estimated was about two miles from the post. It was impossible to pinpoint the location.

Ulster Hose Company was alerted and at 2:28 a. m. an unidentified woman gave a telephone alarm for a fire nearby Brink's store at Lake Katrine. Ulster Hose responded and although the location was incorrect firemen were able to see the glow when they arrived at Brink's and followed it to the fire.

Slippery roads during the area's first snowfall of the season delayed fire apparatus in getting to the fire.

Ulster Hose was the first to arrive. Sawkill was summoned a few minutes later and mutual aid calls brought out the Mt. Marion-Ruby Volunteers with their apparatus and the Hurley Fire Company's tank truck.

Bates Hears News
Meanwhile, Bates had arrived home about 3 a. m. and according to what he related to troopers and firemen was unable to take his automobile up the hill to his home because of the slippery road. As he started to walk up the hill he met a man running toward him who told him a house was on fire. Asked whose house it was, the man told Bates he did not know the owner but said it was a white house. Bates said he replied "no, it can't be. That's my house."

Chief Norton said that the home has been occupied by the Bates for about one year. It is owned by Mrs. Charles Shaw of 32 Rochester avenue, Brooklyn, from whom they rent.

Knights Release Radio Programs

The following radio programs, sponsored by Kingston Council No. 275 will be heard over WKNY during the coming week:

On week-day mornings at 6, the Sacred Heart Program; Sunday morning at 8:30, the Ave Maria Hour.

This Sunday, the Ave Maria Hour will portray the story of Blessed Albert of Bergamo. It could seem strange to present a saint's story as a "whodunit," yet this particular approach in Sunday's Ave Maria Hour program brings home very clearly the lessons to be learned from the life of Blessed Albert of Bergamo.

His is a simple story, simple in the telling yet rife with the drama found so frequently in the life of the average man. Albert was a man whose heart was generous. His great charity lost him much of this world's goods including the loyalty of a seemingly more prudent wife. Years later Maria returned, but not in the way Albert expected. It is a story with a surprise ending.

Stone Ridge Charge Sets Mission Plans

The Rev. John Long of the Methodist Church, Swanton, Vt., will be the guest speaker at the churches in the Stone Ridge Methodist charge Sunday, Nov. 8, and continuing until Friday.

His appearance is in connection with the United Evangelistic Mission being held in the Conference Area. The Rev. Mr. Long will speak at the regular morning worship services Sunday and will speak nightly at the following places:

Sunday, Stone Ridge; Monday, Kripplebush; Tuesday, Accord; Wednesday, Stone Ridge; Thursday, Kripplebush; Friday, Accord. All services during the week will start at 8 p. m.

Visitation teams composed of laymen of the church will make house-to-house calls on the people of the community during the week.

Your Life and Mine

by CLYDE HERRERT SNELL

Creatures As Teachers
When Robert Browning wrote that line about "all the breath and the bloom of the year" being "in the bag of one bee" he was hinting at one of the greatest truths about this wonderful world in which we live. He was suggesting, indirectly, the fact that what we speak of sometimes as "earth's lesser creatures" hold before our eyes some of the most important lessons that human beings ever contemplate.

The creatures seem to have discovered a secret that we humans have missed. They never seem to be afflicted with that restless, restless which creates such havoc with our lives. They appear to have none of the envies and prejudices, none of the anxieties and fears which beset the human race. Life never seems to "fall apart" for an insect or an animal.

I never yet have seen a bee that appeared to find life empty or dull or uninteresting. Have you? I never saw a bird which gave any hint that he was fretting about the future or terribly unhappy over the superiority of his neighbor's plume or his neighbor's nest. Did you? Someway the creatures never seem to have learned the art of worrying. They are endowed with the calm ability to make things as they come—and make the best of them. Walt Whitman was so impressed with the obvious tranquility of the animals that he almost thought he would like to desert the human tribe and live among the creatures.

"I think," said he, "I could turn and live with animals, they are so placid and self-contained."

I do not know who wrote these lines but they portray a mighty truth. "Birds build their nests, rear their young, and make their annual flight to warmer climates, but no bird ever tried to build more nests than its neighbor; and no fox ever fretted because he had only one hole in the earth in which to hide; and no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay away enough nuts for two winters instead of one; and no dog ever lost sleep over the fact that he did not have enough bones buried in the ground for his declining years."

Elizabeth Cheney has related an interesting bit of conversation which she "overheard in an orchard":

Said the Robin to the Sparrow: "I should really like to know Why these anxious human beings Rush about and worry so?"

Said the Sparrow to the Robin: "Friend, I think that it must be That they have no Heavenly Father Such as cares for you and me."

C-A Workers Are Listed to Assist In Area Mission

Dr. Clyde H. Snell, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church in this city, said recently that his congregation is looking forward expectantly to the United Evangelistic Mission, Nov. 8-15.

The guest pastor for the Mission, the Rev. A FLAT-FOOTED FUDDY is a storekeeper who refuses to stock what the customer wants.

Keeps the sales down that way — so that he doesn't have to refill shelves or bother with streams of busy customers.

Naturally the FUDDY is a rare creature, almost extinct.

The modern retailer, fortunately, carries the products that move the fastest — the brands that customers want.

He is sure, of course, that the brand preferences come from the influence of newspaper ads. Naturally. When he advertises he automatically uses the newspaper because he knows that just about all his customers read it.

In fact most retailers use it. Last year while national advertisers were spending $526 million in local newspapers, retailers were spending 85% of their money telling their customers where to buy those national brands.

NO TIME TO DROP OUR GUARD

Economic aid to Europe appears unlikely to survive beyond the current fiscal year. Men in Congress who have long been friendly to aid programs are saying the time has come to end them. The most recent was Senator George of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

As originally conceived, the Marshall Plan was a four-year program, to end in early 1952. It has been carried two years beyond that date, though it no longer bears that designation.

Had not military aid to Europe also entered the picture, it is doubtful the economic program would have lasted this long. Congress approved economic help the last couple of times out largely on the understanding that it was directly related to military effort.

Now most lawmakers seem unwilling to accept the idea even on this basis. The feeling running against an aid program is evidently so strong that the Eisenhower administration fears it might engulf military aid as well.

Consequently, White House budget-making sources disclose that administration experts are seriously considering the lumping of foreign military aid with the regular U. S. military budget.

That is one way of recognizing the realities of congressional opposition to a continuance of separate aid programs. At the same time, it would serve to reaffirm the importance to this country of military assistance abroad.

The European armies are properly measured as part of our own defense system. What we do to bolster them minimizes the burdens we must place upon ourselves. In fact, the military experts have always said that funneling funds abroad will get us more defense for less dollars.

If help to Europe is set down budget-wise as an aspect of our defense, let us hope, Congress is prepared to accept it. It is one thing to insist now that economic aid is no longer necessary. It is quite another to argue that we should have only that defense which we ourselves can erect.

Whatever the disposition of the military aid matter, we are clearly coming to the end of one remarkable chapter in postwar history. Never before was there anything quite like the Marshall Plan for boldness and inventiveness in foreign policy. It may be a long time before there is anything like it again.

TIED TOGETHER

The pressure of the American wheat surplus is felt in many other parts of the world. One country affected by the surplus is Canada, which ships eighty per cent of its wheat to Great Britain, retaining about twenty per cent of its total for home consumption.

Our government, in order to meet the problem of the wheat surplus, is considering allowing Britain to pay for American wheat with pounds sterling instead of dollars. Until now both Canada and the United States have sold wheat to Britain on a dollar payment basis. Accepting sterling would give the U. S. an advantage over Canada which might well disturb that country's economy, unless it, too, is willing to take pounds.

Every day it becomes more apparent that the destiny of every country in the world depends upon that of every other country. The surplus wheat situation is an example of how independent the economies of the countries of the world really are.

There are two sure ways to handle women. And some day, perhaps, some man will find them out.

THIS IS A DUTCH TREAT

It's well known that many large charitable campaigns run up heavy operating costs that eat into collected funds. So it comes as quite a surprise to hear that the total cost of raising $1,590,000 in flood relief this year for the people of beleaguered Holland came to only $31,000. That's just 1.97 per cent of the total.

You can't beat the Dutch.

SOIL CONSERVATION

It is not to be expected that any effort to eliminate an unnecessary cost to the taxpayer will meet with no opposition. In private industry, reorganizations constantly take place to reduce costs or to increase efficiency, or both. The obsolescent is abolished as rapidly as possible. When such measures are taken in government, the outcry is immediate and articulate, because office-holders hate to lose their jobs and always find friends to fight for them. The Hoover Commission has run upon the fact that jobs, once established for a good purpose, continue after their usefulness has totally disappeared. Nevertheless appointments are made, salaries and expense allowances are drawn. These men actually have nothing to do but to get their pay.

In the matter of the reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, which had been permitted to grow into a behemoth, President Eisenhower sent Plan No. 2 to Congress, which was accepted by Congress and is now the law. The Department gave those who favored or opposed the reorganization plan until November 1 to state their views. This has been done and the plan has now been put into effect. The argument concerning it continues because there is nothing about which someone has not a better plan. That is human nature.

One of the phases of the reorganization plan of the Department has to do with the Soil Conservation Service, an activity of the States in an advisory capacity. For about 18 years, the Federal Government has maintained regional offices which provided a supervisory service and administration of State programs. The idea was that the Department of Agriculture could do the job better than State Soil Conservation Departments could.

Whether that was ever true is one of those arguments that can go on forever and prove nothing. That most States are now prepared to do their own jobs efficiently after 18 years of Federal tutelage is generally admitted. Therefore the time has come to abolish the regional offices of the Soil Conservation Service because their utility has now diminished to a point where they are no longer needed. Their abolition will save some money without impairing any service.

Actually, as of March 1, 1953, farmers and ranchers had organized 2,481 soil conservation districts of their own. There are also 20 grass conservation districts. In a word, the job of soil conservation is being done as a cooperative voluntary enterprise, within each State.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson takes the position that ours is not a totalitarian government, and that what the people or the States can do for themselves, the Federal Government ought not to duplicate at great expense. He said of this:

"The conservation and improvement of our land and water resources is primarily the responsibility of the farmer, the rancher, and the custodians of forest land. It is important that farmers band together in local soil conservation districts and watershed associations and that they take the initiative in protecting and developing our agricultural resources. Agriculture can go forward confidently in such locally directed soil conservation districts."

The opposition to this reorganization plan seems to be based on the argument that a government bureau once established should never be abolished. This is not a novel idea, as the Hoover Commission has discovered, finding many agencies of government which exist to duplicate and triplicate work done by other agencies and by the States. There are about half a dozen hospital services in the Federal Government, for instance. These could be joined into one service to great advantage and saving.

If the objective of the reorganization of the executive branch of government is to eliminate the duplication and the obsolescent, the supervisory offices of the Soil Conservation Service should be abolished and the State Conservationists should be permitted to do their work with due regard to the maturity which they have achieved since 1935 when all this started as a phase of flood control.

Herbert Hoover, in a telegram to Secretary Benson, said:

"Your plans of reorganization are along the line of the recommendations of the task force of agriculturalists. . . . They have been exhaustively debated since they were first proposed by the substantial elements concerned. . . . If displaced officials are to counteract reorganization for economy and efficiency in the government, all of us may well throw up our hands."

That Body of Yours

TIME OF DEATH IN CANCER

From time to time we read of a patient who was told by a noted physician that he had only a year to live, but outlived the doctor by many years. We do not hear many of these stories today because physicians, from experience, have learned that some serious cases live for years and some apparently mild cases die within a few weeks or months. Also, there are instances in which a patient with a disease that is always fatal actually outlives others of his age who do not have the disease.

These facts are true about cancer which grows rapidly in some cases and very slowly in others. In still others grows rapidly for a time, then seems to stop growing and then starts to grow again. The physician today does not usually advise patient or family just when the end will come.

An editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association illustrates that cancer death cannot be predicted.

"Numerous case reports indicating the unpredictability of cancer as a disease are scattered throughout the medical literature. It has been observed that in any series of untreated cancer patients survival rates will have a much longer survival rate than the average, with some tumors seemingly appearing spontaneously and others seemingly growing in cycles with periods of rapid growth alternating with stationary periods or actual improvement. Moreover, the phenomenon of delayed recurrences has been observed, wherein the tumor reappears years later either in the scar that has been produced by previous surgical operation or in the surrounding area. Occasionally cancer cells appear dormant (quiet) in lymph nodes and other vital structures of the body without ever producing symptoms; sometimes, however, rapid metastasis (spreading of cancer cells) carried by the blood to another part of the body after a prolonged quiescence (resting) occurs."

"Drs. J. J. Morton, Jr., and J. H. Morton, a few months ago, recently summarized in American Surgery their experiences with a group of 17 cases of cancer that began in various organs including the thyroid gland, neck, breast, orbit, parotid gland and kidney. These cases were unusual in that the patients had prolonged periods of active useful life even though the cancer had not been completely removed by surgery. They point out that cancer may behave as a chronic disease for more than a quarter of a century."

Because, then, there is no explanation known of these long survival periods, the physician must be cautious in estimating the survival rate of the cancer patient.

Face-Lifting

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill has made a remarkable recovery from his recent apoplectic stroke. Though this was not officially stated in the formal communiqué, it was one of the best bits of news to come out of the recent conference of American, British and French foreign ministers in London.

Before the conference opened, the prime minister entertained at dinner in honor of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Lord Salisbury took no active part in the two-and-a-half-hour conference, that followed and Sir Winston carried on the entire burden of directing the conversation.

Though one side of his body had been paralyzed, he showed no signs of it. His mind was alert, his hearing good, his voice strong. He had had champagne for dinner and brandy afterwards, as of old.

Since a session of Parliament was about to open, the prime minister wondered if he would be able to hop up and down to answer questions from the honorable members. He tried it several times and then said, "Yes, I think I can do it."

At 10:30, when the meeting broke up, the prime minister walked downstairs to the door with his guests to bid him good night, pose for waiting photographers and be seen by reporters assigned to cover Secretary Dulles' visit.

Forecasters Take Risk

Making flat economic predictions is one of the most risky things any political figure can do. At his last press conference, President Eisenhower remarked that cattle prices had been stabilized, that the cattle market had reached its peak and was on the way up.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has been saying the same thing since last February. In this period cattle prices have fallen from $19 to under $16 a hundred weight. Nevertheless, Secretary Benson told the cattle-men's caravan that came to Washington to demand price supports on live stock, "It is my conviction that most of the trouble is behind us."

The next day, Harold F. Breimyer, meat expert at the Department of Agriculture, told the annual Outlook Conference, "The beef supply next year and possibly for several years will continue larger than in the years before 1953, and prices can hardly rebound very far."

Trick Hooks Reds

The Hon. Joseph C. Grew, former U. S. undersecretary of state and ambassador to Japan, tells this story about Communist stupidity in the Soviet satellites.

Radio Free Europe recently wanted to find out if its broadcasts were being jammed in certain areas of Czechoslovakia. So a story was broadcast about two Czechs who had seen the light, wanted nothing more to do with communism and were now heart and soul for the west.

Within a few days prominent Communist papers in Czechoslovakia came out with lead stories to the effect that these two men had been interviewed and had branded the broadcast an infamous lie. They were still loyal to communism and wanted no part of the west.

This response satisfied Radio Free Europe tremendously. For two reasons. First, they now know that their broadcasts are getting through. Second, they were able to make considerable propaganda out of the incident because the two men supposed to have been involved in the incident didn't even exist. The Communies had swallowed the bait.

"GREEK WHEEL" TURNS FARM REVOLUTION This Greek farmer jumps from centuries-old farming methods to a way of mechanical farming with the aid of this low-cost "Greek Wheel," developed by agricultural experts of the American Foreign Operations Administration to Greece. The device, called a "gadget" by its inventors, a "Greek Wheel" by enthusiastic Yugoslav government officials who have built one of the machines, will prepare soil for seed after field has been plowed, plant small-grain seeds and corn, cut young weeds and cultivate row-grown crops. Designed to be made by village blacksmiths, it costs about 15 American dollars to construct.

Saugerties

Fire District Is Given Approval

Saugerties, Nov. 7—A concerted drive by members of the advisory committee for the Malden-West Camp proposed fire district showed that in two weeks time 73.8 per cent of the resident taxpayers of the proposed district had signed the petition. In the time left before the petition will be presented to the Town Board, this figure undoubtedly will be much higher. The Town Board held its regular meeting Thursday night but however there were some legal preliminaries which prevented presentation at that time. It is possible that when the advisory committee are ready presentation of the petition may be made to a special meeting of the board. M. Lawrence Carroll, spokesman for the committee announced the total percentage signed was 73.8 per cent which represented $369,350 in assessed valuation signed. In order to obtain approval from the Town Board 51 per cent of the resident landowners, who own property which is assessed at 5 per cent of the total assessed valuation of the proposed district, must be signed. The goal in dollars was $351,350. The petition has surpassed that by $18,000. In the break-down of the figures, Carroll said that 26 residents and 37 non-residents in the Malden area did not sign for various reasons. In many instances contacts had not been made and in the time that is left these may still be added and thereby increase the percentage signed. The West Camp area had four residents and 17 non-residents who also did not sign for various reasons. The total loss in valuation from these properties was $107,150. The committee also announced that the proposed fire district boundaries might be enlarged in order to include some properties on the west side of the Thruway. These properties which are in Katsbaan, border on the Saxton and Centerville Fire Districts but are not included in those districts. Therefore, with approval of the Malden-West Camp Fire District, these properties in Katsbaan would be left out in the middle without protection from either district. Members of the advisory committee were approached by a delegation from this area asking the committee to enlarge the boundaries in order to include the unprotected Katsbaan area. A report from Albert De Soma, who headed the delegation, claims that a petition circulated in the Katsbaan area had already been signed by 90 per cent approving the inclusion of these properties in the proposed Malden-West Camp Fire District.

During the two-week period the petition has been circulating there have been many rumors and offers of land and buildings for the proposed fire company. However, only one offer has been made at a meeting of the advisory committee and may be considered bona fide. At a special meeting of the committee Oct. 25, John J. Helfert of Malden offered a strip of land about 140 feet north of the state road on Malden Turnpike with about 60 foot front and running about 125 feet back. The advisory committee includes Charles Teetsel, William Campbell, Emmett Veder, Jerry Smith, Edward Kolls, Albert Cawein, Harold Bennett, Robert Herb, and Lawrence Carroll all of Malden and also the Rev. Henry Schumann, Charles Daley, Bernard McCutcheon, Charles Graf, and Henry Moose all of West Camp.

Bower said that members home from college this weekend who expected to receive their County Fair premium checks tonight may obtain them by contacting him before they return to college.

Persuasion Reported
Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Special Ambassador Eric Johnston is reported to have persuaded both Israelis and Arabs to consider joint development of Jordan valley water resources. Johnston, now in Paris, is due to report to President Eisenhower some time next week on the results of his three-week tour of five Middle East countries. Officials familiar with his mission said today Johnston has not accomplished all they hoped he could.

Katsbaan After Fire Protection

Saugerties, Nov. 7—At a special interview with Albert De Soma it was learned that residents of Katsbaan area bordering the Saxton and Centerville Fire Districts on the west side of the Thruway, Malden-West Camp Fire District on the east want to become a part of the new fire district forming in the Malden-West Camp areas. The Malden-West Camp district was a neutral choice because of the distance involved. Fire apparatus from Malden would reach the Katsbaan area in much less time than it would take to come down from Saxton or Centerville.

De Soma said that he had already received signatures of all the landowners in the unprotected strip making known their wishes to join in the Malden-West Camp Fire District. The people who had signed included Jinor and Teresa Pesce, Joseph Pesce, Sr., Joseph Pesce, Jr., Mary G. Pesce, Nick Carota, Josephine Kruger, Floyd and Eunice Mower, Fred S. Pesce and Marion Pesce. A spokesman for the Malden Alvisors Committee said that there would probably be no opposition to enlarging the district boundaries as long as the signing of the strip is completely assured. It was estimated that the additional assessed valuation would run between $15,000 to $20,000 and since it would be signed up 100 per cent would not change the over-all percentage signed on the petition.

Royalty Visits Farm
Oswego, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. George Smith rolled out the welcome mat today for the King and Queen of Greece. The Smiths, who live in an 11-room white house on their 335-acre hog and dairy farm, had told their Kendall county neighbors they didn't anticipate any "fuss and feathers" on the occasion of the royal visit. It was the King who set plans for today's call in motion by saying he desired to see "a typical midwest farm."

An aide of Gov. William G. Stratton selected that of Smith, 36, and his wife, Ann, 33. The farm is located 40 miles west of Chicago.

Offensive Halts Reds

Hanoi, Indochina, Nov. 7 (AP)—One of the biggest offensives ever launched by French Union forces in the seven-year Indochinese war was credited today with having wrecked a "master plan" of the Communist-led Vietnam for assaulting the Red River Delta. French military sources said the rebel plan called for the Vietnam to infiltrate their hand-picked divisions No. 320 and No. 304 into the delta from outside the southern rim and link up with the 60,000 Vietnam followers who have long been inside the key French defense bulwark.

Explanation Is Asked

Panmunjon, Nov. 7 (AP)—The United Nations Command again today asked the Communists to explain why Chinese troops captured and held two American marines prisoner for four days early in September. The UNC said the Chinese forced the two unnamed marines to cross the buffer line into Red territory at gunpoint Sept. 9 and accused them of being spies.

Drilling for Gas

owners, and did some of the first and major geological work in the area. Currie said. Prime movers in that work were George and Henry Botchford, both of whom were present at Friday's meeting. These Panther Mountain Corporation leases were signed over to the Dome Gas and Oil Corp., forming the starting point for its present holdings.

Leases have been negotiated with approximately 75 landowners, who will receive 12.5 per cent of the value of any gas or oil removed from wells on their property.

Geological tests and reports forming the basis for the belief that gas might be trapped under the Panther Mountain dome were outlined by Atwater.

May Room Section

Advantages to local residents in the event that gas or oil be found were listed by the corporation officials. They said that it would bring increased employment, might make it possible for local utilities to purchase gas cheaper than from the Texas pipeline and therefore pass savings on to consumers, and could be a selling point for attracting new industries to the area, Lieberman said.

If the dome proves to be empty, containing neither gas nor oil, but is a natural trap, it may still be possible to use it as a reservoir for storage of natural gas, piped in during slack periods and drawn out during periods of peak load, Lieberman said.

Ready to Start

The new corporation, which cleared with the Securities Exchange Commission on Thursday, has enough money committed for its first well. Currie said, and equipment has been ordered. A New York brokerage firm will handle the financing, and while the firm will welcome inquiries as to investment, Currie said, no direct effort was made locally to sell stock.

Cottickill Man Hurt

John Corelli, 51, of Cottickill road, Rosendale, was injured Friday evening about 11 p. m. when his car and that of James Hewitt of Titusville road, Poughkeepsie, were in collision between the Rondout creek bridge and Port Jervis.

Corelli was taken to Benedictine Hospital where his condition today was reported as good. Corelli was driving toward Kingston when his car skidded on the snow and struck the Hewitt car which was proceeding south. Deputy Sheriffs Chester Wolven and Benjamin Newkirk reported. Both cars were damaged about the front ends.

Seven Are Casualties

Bremershaven, Germany, Nov. 7 (AP)—Seven Swedish seamen were dead or missing today after a Swedish freighter collided with a U. S. Navy-chartered transport and sank in the North Sea last night. There were no casualties aboard the transport, the Sea-wind, which was only slightly damaged and came to Bremerhaven for repairs. Eighteen survivors of the 2,258-ton freighter Bjoerkoe were picked up by a German pilot boat.

Nudes Were Cold

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—Nudes with goose pimples staged a lightning strike in three artists' studios in a Chelsea apartment block yesterday because the central heating wasn't heating them enough. Faced with an urgent SOS from the nude-less artists, the local council, owners of the block, coaxed the shivering models back to work by raising the temperature 15 degrees.

Earliest Snowfall

evacuation of some 20,000 homes on the south shore of Long Island and on Staten Island.

Hundreds of automobiles, many with women and children among the motorists, were stranded throughout the night by snow and icy conditions on Route 17 north of Tuxedo Park.

Winds up to 68 miles an hour knocked down power lines and cut off electricity to about 50,000 homes on Long Island.

The storm dumped up to a foot of snow in upstate New York and 3.7 inches in New York city. Winds in the city ranged up to 60 miles an hour.

Long Island Isolated

Ferry boat service between Manhattan and Staten Island and New Jersey was suspended when the high running tide made docking unsafe. Two passenger laden ferries unable to dock, bucked the wind in the harbor for hours.

Water cut across a causeway and isolated Long Beach from the Long Island mainland.

Airlines cancelled flights in wholesale lots. Some flights, scheduled to take off from Idlewild airport, where some offices were flooded, were transferred to Newark, N. J., airport.

Police were unable to break through to the stranded automobiles along a lonely six mile stretch north of Tuxedo Park until after dawn.

Icy conditions and cars that had skidded to a halt in all directions across the road blocked rescue vehicles from evacuating the motorists during the night.

Sgt. P. J. Fitzpatrick of the state police barracks at Monroe said police finally reached some of the motorists via a side route with the aid of a bulldozer borrowed from a nearby state thruway project.

Blames State for Roads
Police Chief Edward Green of the Tuxedo Park police blamed the state for the morass of automobiles. He said the job of plowing after the road had been traversed recently from towns and villages to the state, and that the state made no attempt to keep the road open.

The shore area houses evacuated on Long Island were located mostly along a 30-mile stretch between East Rockaway and Babylon, including the towns of Freeport, Merrick, Wantagh, Massapequa and Amityville.

Water three to four feet deep flooded some homes on Staten Island, at the entrance of New York Harbor, between South Beach and Tottenville. The Salvation Army and the Red Cross set up food and first aid stations for exposure victims.

Like Disaster Period
Residents said conditions were as bad as during a 1950 storm and tide when the flooded section was declared a disaster area.

Service men from Ft. Wadsworth and Miller Field were sent to help in rescue and patrol work.

Two boatmen who went out in an outboard motorboat last night to check boats moored off a boatyard at City Island, the Bronx, were missing today.

Traffic throughout the New York metropolitan area was snarled by snow, sleet, ice, wind and rain.

Trucks were crawling bumper to bumper along a stretch of several miles on the Boston Post Road between Rye, N. Y., and Greenwich, Conn.

The early date of the snow caught most motorists without tire chains or winter tires.

"Apparently the Republicans have adopted the tactics of Sen. McCarthy as a desperation move. . . . It doesn't matter what they do. They can't breathe life into a corpse and they know it. . . . They'll stop at nothing, lies or anything else, to accomplish their purpose. They're scared. They're desperate."

Says White Fired
Truman said that "as soon as we found out White was wrong we fired him" — a statement which White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty challenged as "not true."

Hagerty said White resigned in 1947 as executive director of the United States on the International Monetary Fund. He quoted from a letter Truman wrote White accepting the resignation "with sincere regret."

To this, Truman said: "People are sometimes fired by being allowed to resign." That was the case with White, he said, and the practice is still followed in Washington.

White, who denied being a Communist, died in 1945.

Brownell's charges brought a drumroll of comment from Republicans who have not associated themselves with McCarthy's investigations of Communists-in-government.

Stresses Her Bill
Among these was Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, who once read to the Senate a "declaration of conscience" that was interpreted generally as a criticism of McCarthy's methods.

In a statement issued through her office here, Mrs. Smith said that "shocking" revelations made by Brownell emphasized "desperately need for passage of my bill to outlaw the Communists, make it illegal for them to hold positions in the federal government and subject them to fine and imprisonment."

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), who has been politically close to McCarthy, said in a statement that Brownell's disclosures "are shocking and horrible."

A man and his wife were crossing the street, and an automobile slithered around the corner and knocked the woman for a loop. The car stopped, and the man, very much excited, shouted at the driver:

Man—You've got to pay me a hundred dollars for injuries to my wife.

Driver—A hundred dollars! Why, your wife isn't even hurt. She's getting up.

Man—All right, so she's getting up. But you give me the money just the same, and if she isn't hurt you can have another try at her.

Lady Gives Up Garbage

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—This city's last lady garbage truck driver has traded her three-ton truck for the sewing needle and the broom after more than 10 years service. Mrs. Ethel Jackson, 67-year-old widow, doffed her gloves and cap for the contrasting quiet of domesticity. She had hauled thousands of tons of garbage and drove more than 100,000 miles. She was one of seven women garbage truck drivers hired by the city during the World War 2 manpower shortage. Mrs. Jackson didn't especially want to retire, but she'd passed the 65-year-age limit.

SON ENGAGED

A mother writes: "My son who lives in a distant city has just written to me that he has become engaged to a girl from the same city. Her parents, however, live in still another part of the country. It will be impossible for my husband and me to pay the conventional visit on the girl and her family. It is my understanding that when this visit cannot be made the mother of the man should write a note of welcome to the girl. This I have already done. But I am completely at a loss as to how to deal with her parents. Should I also write to them, and if so, can you give me some idea of what to say? I will be very grateful for any help you can give me."

It is possible you invite the girl to come and stay with you. You would wait until you have met the girl and then you would write a friendly letter to her mother telling her how much you liked her daughter.

Pretty Daughter

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a twelve-year-old daughter who is extremely pretty and is told so by practically everyone. I have noticed lately that she is becoming very conceited and I'm very much afraid that she will become so. Will you please tell me how I can discourage friends from making such remarks in her presence?

Answer: I think your attitude toward your daughter is to make it plain to her that "Handsome is as Handsome does." Tell her she is lucky to be born good-looking but to be unselfconscious about it is very important—conceited people are not popular.

To Meet Son's Fiancee

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is engaged to a girl from another city. She does not know many people here and my son would like me to give a bridal shower for her so that she can meet some of my friends. Will you please tell me if it would be proper for me to give such a party?

Answer: Give a party "To meet her," yes but not a "bridal shower" which would indicate presents.

When and how should the families of the engaged couple meet? This and other questions on engagements are answered for you in Mrs. Post's latest E-1 "Engagements." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Grid Rams Seek Revenge in Top Game on Sunday

New York, Nov. 7—The Los Angeles Rams, rolling in high gear atop the Western Division standings, will be out for revenge when they tangle with the San Francisco Forty-niners in Los Angeles tomorrow in the weekend's top national football league game.

Earlier in the season, in San Francisco, the Forty-niners shaded the Rams 31-30 on a field goal in the last six seconds. Since then the Rams have won four in a row to bring their record to 5-1. San Francisco and the defending champion Detroit Lions are tied for second with four victories and two defeats.

Giants in Philly

Detroit prys off the lid on the weekend slate by playing host to the Baltimore Colts tonight. Tomorrow's action also lists Pittsburgh at Cleveland, New York at Philadelphia, the Chicago Cardinals at Washington and Green Bay at the Chicago Bears.

A huge turnout is expected at the Coliseum when the California rivals get together. The game could develop into a passing contest between Los Angeles' Norm Van Brocklin and San Francisco's Y. A. Tittle.

The Forty-niners, whose only defeats were inflicted by the Lions, can create a triple tie for the lead by beating the Rams, providing Detroit turns back Baltimore, as expected.

The Lions-Colt game will be televised by the Dumont network to 22 eastern and midwestern cities. In their previous meeting Detroit was extended in downing the Colts 27-17 after Baltimore had led by seven in halftime. The Colts, fourth in the Western Division, are 3-3.

Shokan

Shokan, Nov. 6—Next Sunday marks the start of a United Evangelistic Mission in the three churches of the Ashokan Methodist charge of which the Rev. John W. Grob is pastor. Thomas S. Evans of Cambridge will be the guest speaker at the 7:30 p. m. services as follows: Ashokan, Sunday and Monday; Glenford, Tuesday and Wednesday; West Hurley, Thursday and Friday. Sunday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 o'clock, there will be an evening victory mass meeting in Newburgh at which the speakers will be Dr. Ralph W. Sockman and Dr. Allen E. Claxton.

Bill Livingston who with his family recently took up residence on Murray street in Kingston, was a caller here the latter part of the week.

Homer Markle, Sr., 93, was the oldest person to vote Tuesday at the Olive District 1 polling place in Winchell's store. Homer was formerly a member of the town board of assessors for 12 years.

The crowd waiting to hear the vote count Tuesday evening was considerably larger than usual.

John Roosa, a native of West Shokan, was a recent caller in the village center. John reports his brother, Will, one time heavyweight boxing champ of the upper Esopus Valley, is not in too good health this fall.

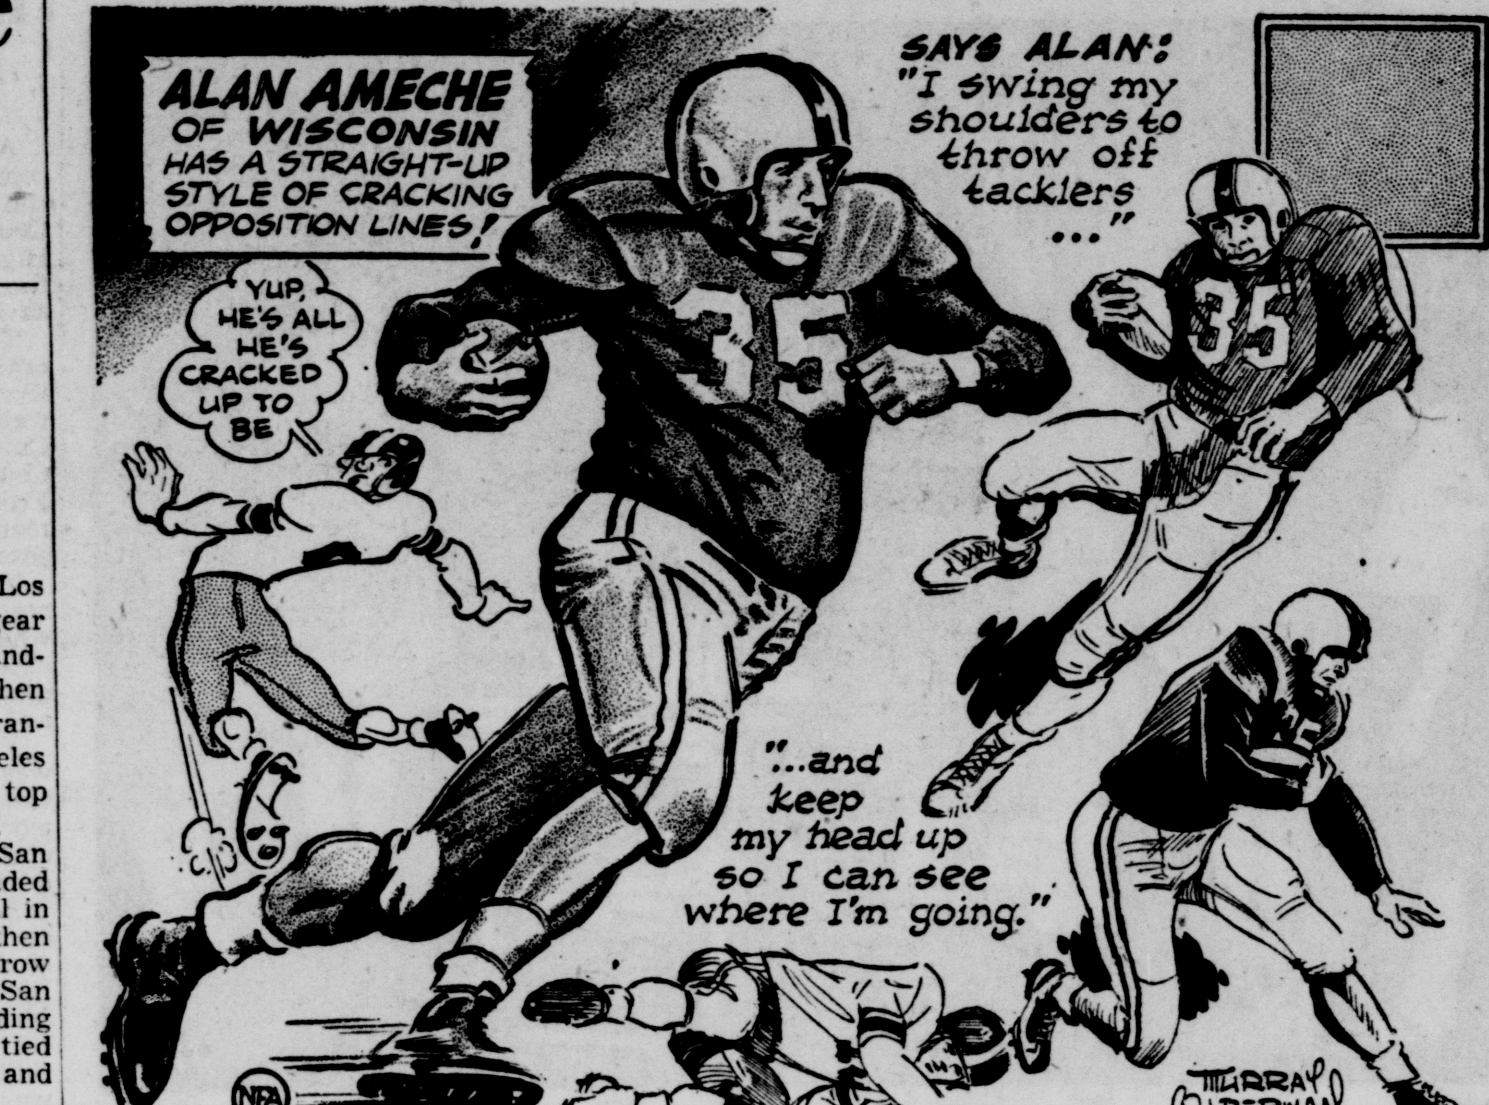

The Democrats made out very well in this strong Republican district where five of their local candidates gained a lead over their opponents. Outstanding was the run made by Grant Avery for town superintendent who received 222 votes here as against 113 for the Republican candidate. Successful candidates in addition to Avery who reside in this section were Jessie DuBois, collector and Catherine Carlson, justice of the peace.

Mrs. Carlson, a Democrat and Shokan's first lawyer in more than a half a century, will also be the first woman to hold the office of justice in Olive.

Callers here Sunday included Hazel Peterson who formerly spent her summers in the resort country. Miss Peterson lives in Paterson, N. J., and her sister, Zaina, now is employed and makes her home in New York.

Martin Pummels 682 in Nocando; Houghtaling's 256 Tops Singles

High scoring continued to be the theme of local bowlers as all four leagues seeing action during the season's first snowfall Friday night were led by 600 blasters.

Martin led the Nocando keggers with his 682 and a 248 single-ton.

Houghtaling was top man in the Everybody's with 256 and a 672 three-trimer, just 10 pins off the pace.

Ralph Garafola spearheaded the Bowldrome Classic wheel with 245 and 626.

Rose Schatzel, the "Queen," fired 225 and 618 to head the Women's Classic at the Bowldrome.

Bowl Invitations May Depend Largely On Outcome of Today's Grid Clashes

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Bowl game promoters should know a lot more by tonight about the attractions they're going to offer on New Year's Day.

It's a showdown Saturday in four major conferences which send their champions into bowls. None of them can wrap up a bid for keeps by winning but a few unexpected losses certainly will scramble the situation.

In the tricky Southwest Conference unbeaten and untied Baylor, ranked third in the nation in the most recent Associated Press poll, engaged Texas. A lot of folks have figured this might be the day the Baylor bubble bursts but the Bears from Waco were a slight choice to outspeed the massive Longhorns.

The Southwest Conference champion is the automatic host for the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas.

Illini on Spot

The Big Ten, which furnishes the eastern team for the Rose Bowl, sends top dog Illinois against dangerous Michigan at Champaign, Ill. The Illini are unbeaten and untied in the conference but if they falter against the Wolverines the winner of today's Ohio State-Michigan State encounter could catch them.

On the west coast the big game matches surprising Stanford and Southern California at Los Angeles. A Stanford victory would surprise the experts but the Indians are talking Rose Bowl and could go all the way.

Oklahoma faces its last serious big seven test as it invades Missouri, an in-and-out club which holds decisions over Indiana and Purdue. If they win the Sooners will be ready to pack their bags for the Orange Bowl which for the first time will be matching the Big Seven champion with the kingpin of the New Atlantic Coast Conference.

Maryland, best club in the ACC and ranked second only to Notre Dame in the nation, takes it easy against George Washington although bad weather might affect this decision. It was snowing hard in Washington yesterday.

Auburn Trips Miami

Notre Dame comes east to meet Penn at Philadelphia in the top eastern attraction. The game has been a sellout for weeks and almost everybody except Frank Leahy, the pessimistic Irish coach, figures Johnny Lattner and Co. will win easily.

Action last night was scattered and limited. Auburn, a three-touchdown favorite, finally pushed ahead of stubborn Miami in the final quarter in the Orange Bowl Stadium at Miami and won 29-20.

Furman passed for three touchdowns in beating Presbyterian 19-0. Wayne University of Detroit edged Drake 25-19.

Fans choosing to spend the first chilly November Saturday indoors draw four regional games on television, but only one to a region. The experiment of trying to show parts of four games in the same afternoon, used two weeks ago and scheduled for a repeat today, was cancelled.

In the east and much of the Midwest the TV game is northwestern-Wisconsin. In the south it's Florida-Georgia except around Columbia, S. C., where North Carolina is scheduled for one station. The west is being offered Kansas-Kansas State, a long standing grudge battle.

West Virginia, unbeaten and a good prospect for either the Cotton or Sugar Bowl, meets Virginia Tech at Bluefield, Va., and should keep its record intact.

NBA's Unbeaten List Is Due for Paring

Young Scores TKO Victory In 2nd Round

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Paddy Young is on the road back toward another shot at middleweight champ Bobo Olson.

The 25-year-old left hooker from New York's Greenwich Village opened his new campaign last night with a technical knockout over Sammy Giuliani of Stamford, Conn., in 2:34 of the second round at St. Nicholas Arena.

"I'll fight anybody," said Paddy, "just bring them on. I can use the dough."

Paddy didn't know it, but his father, Patrick Young was critically ill at his home in New York Young, Sr., a foreman on the docks, had been given the last rites by the church. They told Young after the fight.

Plans Indefinite

Consequently, Young's future plans were indefinite. He may go to Cleveland on the Christmas Fund Show December 9 with Rocky Castellani or Art Turner. There is a chance of a December 18 Madison Square Garden shot with Kid Gavilan or Joey Giardello.

Jack Solomons, the London promoter, also is interested in Paddy as an opponent for Yolande Pompee.

It wasn't much of a fight last night and a crowd estimated at 1,000, paying about $3,000 didn't get much action. Young dropped Giuliani twice for automatic eight counts, once with a right and once with a left hook, before Referee Al Berl stopped it.

The scrap was televised nationally. Each weighed 161 pounds.

Royals, Pistons, Knicks in Action

(By The Associated Press)

Chances are that by the end of tonight's activity there'll be only one undefeated team—or possibly two—left in the ranks of the National Basketball Association.

With the season but a week old, three teams, Rochester, Fort Wayne and New York, still boast perfect records and all three are slated for action tonight.

The Royals and the Pistons, each with 2-0 marks, are the co-leaders of the western division. The teams meet at Rochester with one of the clubs due to tumble from the elite.

Knicks Meet Lakers

The Knicks, eastern division leaders, put their three game unbeaten skein on the line at Minneapolis as the Lakers inaugurate their home season. Minneapolis, which eliminated New York in the playoff finals last season, were rough customers at home during the 1952-53 campaign, winning 29 and losing two.

The Lakers and the Knicks met in New York last Saturday with the New Yorkers routing the defending champs 91-67. After dropping its first two road starts Minneapolis has surged back to win three in a row.

In the only game played last night the Knicks breezed to an 80-68 victory over the Milwaukee Hawks. The teams ended the first period tied 13-all, but New York bolted away to a 41-30 halftime bulge and coasted the rest of the way.

Carl Braun was the Knicks' top marksman with 21 points and teammate Vince Boryla contributed 18. Rookie Don Sunderlage took scoring honors for the Hawks with 17 points.

Miss Ruth Walker, Campus School librarian, will have some helpful advice for parents about choosing books for children. Her talk will be spiced with a sampling of her more amusing experiences in working with books and children in the library. In her talk Miss Walker also will indicate the various categories of books to be found at the Book Fair. After the program the meeting will adjourn to the library to view the book display. Some Helpful Tips On Buying Towels

With towels so expensive these days, it's more important than ever to keep in mind basic facts concerning weaving and lasting qualities of bath and kitchen linens:

1. Pick sturdy stuff, not decorative, elaborate towels for the children. For the men in the family, too, pick towels tough enough to withstand the rough pulling back and forth of the after-shower rub-down. Loosely twisted yarn must be combined with close weave for greatest durability.

2. Loosely constructed weaves are most absorbent laundry efficiency, use correct towel sizes. Guest or hand towels run 14x24 in. to 16x24 in. in size. Face towels may be 18x32 in.; 20x36 in.; 22x36 in. Bath towels 17x34 in. to 27x59 in.

3. In kitchen towels, linen gives off less lint than cotton. Also, linen is quickest drying.

4. Professional painters say it's bad to dip a brush too deeply in paint. The paint collects and hardens at the base of the bristles and eventually will ruin them. Just dip the brush far enough into the paint so that when the excess on the bristles is removed by wiping lightly on the side of the container, the brush will hold the paint without dripping.

Outdoor Surfaces Spar varnish is not only a marine varnish but is, in reality, well suited to all outdoor surfaces. It also gives efficient service indoors on such surfaces as wooden kitchen work counters where a high gloss is not desirable and a natural wood color is preferred. Spar varnish is, of course, highly moisture-resistance and very durable.

How Often to Paint The average frame house requires renewed paint protection every three to five years. Metal work, if exposed to moisture and the action of rust, may require more frequent recoating.

Stopping Leaks Leaks in basements at the seam between wall and floor can usually be fixed by cutting out the seam with a chisel so that a V is formed and then packing it with cement mortar or tar.

Plan a Warm House Every house will lose heat. That is the fundamental reason for having a heating system. The objective, therefore, is to build a house of such materials and in such a manner as to reduce the heat loss to the lowest possible rate.

Airman Gets 8 Years Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 7. (AP)—A 28-year-old airman found guilty of voluntary manslaughter yesterday was sentenced to eight years in prison by Federal Judge Carl Hatch. Lawrence H. West, Charleston, S. C., was found guilty of the manslaughter charge in the shooting last March of E. C. Anthony F. Catalano, Long Island N. Y., at Sandia Base here. West testified at the trial that he shot Catalano in self-defense because he thought Catalano was coming for him with a gun.

Sawdust Mulch Needs Nitrogen Added to Soil

Sawdust is one of the best mulches for home gardens, says a University of Connecticut specialist who is quick to point out that nitrogen fertilizer should be spread with the sawdust.

"If you plan to use sawdust for a mulch, spread four-fifths of a pound of ammonium sulphate or one-half pound of ammonium nitrate for each bushel of sawdust." That's the advice of E. C. Minnum, extension vegetable specialist for the College of Agriculture at Storrs.

Bacteria and other organisms in the soil decompose the sawdust, Minnum explains. There should be plenty of nitrogen in the soil to feed both the growing plants and the organisms. Plants will suffer where the organisms take most of the nitrogen.

"Extra nitrogen supplies the needs of both the organisms which decompose the sawdust and the crop plants," he adds.

Other Good Mulches The sawdust should be about one inch deep after it has settled. Other good mulches are lawn clippings and leaves. Hay or grass can be used but may contain a lot of weed seeds.

"If you have a very wet soil, don't use a mulch," Minnum cautions. "The mulch may keep the soil from drying out." Mulches should not be too heavy since they may absorb all the water from a light rain. Peat moss makes a good mulch but can be expensive for anything but a very small garden.

With a sufficient supply of rain, a mulch is generally beneficial.

How to Find Number Of Tiles Room Needs

Here's an easy way to determine how many tiles are needed for a given size room when installing asphalt tile or rubber tile floor.

Get the square footage of the room by measuring length and width. Then double the square footage and subtract 10 per cent. That gives the number of tiles needed.

This is based on the fact that a standard 9x9 inch tile is 9/16 of a square foot.

Thus if the room is 9x12 feet, it has 108 square feet. Twice 108 equals 216. Take 10 per cent of 216. That gives 21.6, or in round numbers, 22. Subtract 22 from 216, leaving 194. This is approximate number of tiles needed for a 9x12 foot room.

Follow Directions

It is no more difficult to grow plants indoors from seed than it is to bake a cake. But just as important to follow instructions. If you undertake to do it, read the directions well.

Leaves Are Poisonous The leaves of the rhubarb plant are poisonous and should not be eaten. They contain so much oxalic acid in soluble form, warns the U. S. Department of Agriculture, that illness and death can be caused.

Cleaning Paint Brush If you have trouble removing the paint from the base of the bristles on a paint brush, try using an old fork or, even better, a metal comb.

Target for Lightning The tree most frequently struck by lightning is the oak.

How to Give Wood That Satiny Finish

A dull or satin finish on varnish or enamel is obtained by removing the natural gloss with pumice stone and water or oil after the last coat has become dry and hard. To permit this, three to eight days should be allowed to elapse. Rubbing is done with a thick felt, dipped in water or oil, then in finely ground pumice stone.

When oil is used, it may be a light grade of motor oil, raw linseed oil and benzine, or paraffin oil. Rub lightly over the surface, being especially careful on the edges and corners not to rub through. Mouldings and carved surfaces may be rubbed with a short stiff brush instead of the rubbing felt. Wash off the pumice with clear water and wipe dry with a clean cloth. Corners and angles must be cleaned out with an orange stick, or something similar.

New Houses Feature Double-Action Doors

Double-action doors between kitchen, pantry and dining room are being included in the plans of many new houses. Older houses may benefit from the same convenience, however, as regular doors may be replaced with those of double action or swinging door. Double-action door closers can now be obtained which are concealed in the woodwork over the door. Hold-open features are regarded as standard in most fixtures of this kind. Simple to install and adjust, the mechanism is entirely out of sight and no cutting of the floor is necessary.

Shellac the Knots

Knots in lumber contain resin and pitch which will eventually "burn" through if covered directly with ordinary oil paint. To eliminate "burning" and provide the best coverage, give each knot a preliminary coat of shellac before painting. The shellac will seal in the resin and the pitch.

Drainage for Steps

The treads on wooden steps outside the house should have a slight pitch to them so that the water will drain off. If the treads are not pitched, a few holes should be bored at the low points to provide drainage.

Emergency Measure

A cracked pane of glass can be temporarily waterproofed with a coat of fresh, white shellac on the inside. Vision will not be obstructed by the shellac coat. Breeces and rain will be kept out until the pane is replaced.

Get Full-Size Bath

If you're planning to move, try to select a new home with a bathtub long enough to accommodate even the giant of the family. There's no fun or pleasure in having to double up in a tub that's too short for comfort. The daily sudsy bath is for relaxation as well as for cleanliness.

Protect the Skin

Many kinds of insulation used for walls and ceilings can be very irritating to the skin. When working with such materials be sure that your sleeves are rolled down, your shirt is buttoned at the collar and that you wear gloves.

Cutting Plaster Board

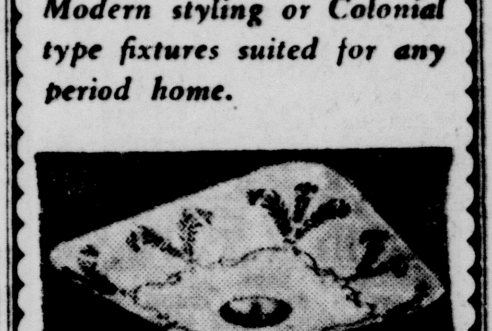

Plaster board or sheet rock can be cut with a saw but it's quicker to score the material with a sharp linoleum knife and break along the line.

Samuel Dondie etc., against Charles Dondie, in which it was alleged the plaintiff resided in Brooklyn and not at Monticello. Papers were submitted and decision reserved in an action brought by the Kingston Heating Supply Corp., against Winfield Swart, assessor of Kingston. Hugh R. Elwyn for plaintiff and James G. Connelly for the city.

An order was signed by Justice Taylor to take testimony of defendant who is outside the state in the action brought by Wallace L. Jaeger against Betty M. Jaeger. Hugh R. Elwyn for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant. There was no opposition to the order.

An order was also signed in the matter of W. Griffin Irwin against Harry and Helen Reppert and Packard-Kingston Company, a motion for discovery and inspection. Robert Ortale for plaintiff and Howard St. John for defendants.

Decision was reserved on an application of Ann Reynolds against Fred Reynolds, for additional counsel fees and for an order dismissing counterclaim and on a motion to serve supplemental answer and counterclaim. Ellsworth Baker appeared for defendant. He argued that the plaintiff had left her home in Monticello with her two children and was now residing with William Melnick near Woodridge and that she allegedly married him. He asked custody of the children by the defendant and charged the alimony payments of $25 a week were excessive since Mrs. Reynolds was allegedly remarried and defendant's responsibility was now confined to care of the children.

Decision was also reserved in the matter of Marlborough Manufacturing and Supply Company against Thomas C. Bocchino, an order to show cause action why a default judgment should not be entered. The plaintiff charged that lumber and supplies were sold over a period of time and billed to Thomas G. Bocchino, a contractor, and his son, Ernest, signed for them. It is now claimed the materials involved in this action were not bought for Thomas G. Bocchino but for and by his son who has since gone into bankruptcy. Plaintiffs allege they were never informed of any change and sold materials and delivered them over the son's signature believing they were for the father's business. A default judgment was taken against Thomas G. Bocchino and it is now sought to open that default by defendant Rusk & Rusk appear for plaintiff and Philip A. Mylod appears for defendant.

In the matter of the application of the City of New York against the board of assessors of the town of Hurley, an application to review assessments under a certiorari proceeding, an order is to be submitted.

A motion to punish for contempt of court in the action of Howard S. Gildersleeve against Alice Marie Giehl, nee Gildersleeve, was adjourned to the Albany special-term November 13. Ellsworth Baker for plaintiff.

The matter of a temporary injunction was submitted to the court in the case of Pat and Mary Amendola against Jeanne Logue, Howard C. St. John for plaintiff. Defendant was granted a week to reply.

School Matter
A Montgomery county matter involving the legality of the formation of the Fonda-Fultonville Central school district on June 29, 1952 was heard. The action is brought by James Colson, a property owner, against Commissioner of Education Lewis of the State of New York. Colson through his attorney George T. Heffernan of Amsterdam, claims on the vote to authorize a Central district the vote was 516 for the formation of the district and 500 against with 42 void ballots not being counted. There were also three blank ballots.

It is the contention of Colson that the law provides that an "affirmative vote of the majority of the qualified voters present and voting" must be had to carry the proposition. He contends that the 42 void votes should be included in the number of voters casting a ballot or being eligible to vote and that it was necessary for a majority of the 1058 persons casting a vote to affirm the proposition. When the proposition was carried by a vote of 518 to 500, it is the contention of the plaintiff.

Metropolitan Life District Manager Will Be Honored

JOHN E. JORDAN

John E. Jordan, who has been manager of the Kingston District of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company since Jan. 14, 1952, will be honored as a new member of the Veteran's Association of the concern during a dinner Wednesday, Nov. 11, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Jordan, a native of Brooklyn, who succeeded Karl Hartman, now retired, was assigned to the local office after being manager of the Derby, Conn., district since Sept. 25, 1950.

Wednesday's dinner, which will start at 7 p. m., is being held as a testimonial for Jordan to commemorate his 20 years of service with the insurance firm. He entered the employ of the company in October 1933 as an agent in Bridgeport, Conn. In May, 1937, he became assistant manager in that district.

Three years following his appointment as assistant manager, he was named as field training instructor in New England and was transferred to the eastern territory in February 1944.
